

US-Venezuela Solidarity Committee Boston presents

Seeds of Solidarity for Venezuela

Sat. Dec. 3rd | 3 - 5 pm | Encuentro5

9A Hamilton Place, Boston (next to Orpheum Theater)

Speakers:

Lisa Sullivan, International Coordinator Seeds of Solidarity Project (Skype participation).

Ausra Kubilius, Seymour Kellerman, Emily Sedgwick, and Robert Schwartz, Boston area observers recently returned from Venezuela.

Nataka Creyton, Boston Urban Farming Institute.

Quincy Saul, Ecosocialist Horizons, also recently visited Venezuela.

Seeds of Solidarity for Venezuela, a project of the Venezuela Solidarity Committee of Boston, is committed to supporting a growing grassroots movement in Venezuela that has emerged with the goal to achieve food sovereignty. We provide organic heirloom seeds to farmer organizations and urban agricultural collectives that are involved in self-reliance and food security initiatives in low income rural and peri-urban areas of Venezuela's Lara State.

This is a people-to-people campaign.

Co-Sponsored by Mass. Global Action

More information: www.us-venezuelasolidarity.org